Compulsory REVISION comments
Minor REVISION comments	The paper is very insular. I've worked on cooperatives in the sociology of agriculture in New England, so I include two pieces that will help this piece reach a wider audience. Otherwise, the piece engages with sociology on only a very superficial level. Comments on how to reach a wider audience are included in the edited manuscript. There is a body of literature on cooperatives in the global North, and readers of that literature would benefit from reading your study. In order to achieve that, you need to connect to the literature. The sentences I've included should allow for that connection. Some syntactical errors were also corrected, but I strongly suggest a closer read to improve grammar prior to publication.
Optional/General comments
