The Introduction gives a suitable description of the addressed problem and it shows the significance of the research problem, but is scientifically limited. The methodology used is appropriate to the purpose of the research; The results are interesting and important to researchers in relevant fields of agriculture an food industry, but for the publication of this study, I recommend supplementing it with other studies to support its importance and opportunity;</li> <li>5. The purpose or goal of the work is within the journal's scope;</li> <li>6. I recommend the inclusion of a larger number of more recent studies on the subject and their insertion in bibliographic references.</li> </ol> However, some minor corrections should be made in order to publish the article. Please, take into account the following recommendations to improve this manuscript: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- The general presentation of the manuscript should be reviewed, the extra spaces between words or the lack of spaces between titles, subtitles, tables, figure and text according to the requirements of the journal;</li> <li>- I recommend a revision of the manuscript according to the requirements of the journal (English, technical editing, bibliography, etc.);</li> <li>- I recommend a critical approach to the literature to enable analysis and interpretation of the information, development of an objective viewpoint and the setting of clear objectives;</li> </ul> <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- I recommend inserting the tables on a single page (see tables 1, 2 and 5);</li> </ul> <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- The presentation of the results obtained from this study is very short, with few references to other studies with similar results and I recommend a correction to this problem;</li> </ul> <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- I recommend a more detailed description of the B-vitamin determination protocol;</li> <li>-</li> <li>-</li> <li>- I recommend that conclusions be formulated highlighting the importance of the results obtained;</li> </ul> <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- I recommend the inclusion of a larger number of more recent studies on the subject and their insertion in bibliographic references and reviewing all bibliographical references and editing them according to journal requirements.</li> </ul> Based on the above mentioned, I recommend this paper for publication after performing the suggested corrections	Done Done There are only a few studies that have been done on this fruit. We have used and cited almost all. We have also used and cited studies done on other fruits to bring up literature review and to find data to compare our results. This instruction is not clear to me. I have put the Tables, one per page. Kindly adjust if this is not your intention Some additions have been made to results. References/Comparisons have been made to relevant previous studies available to us. Done Effort has been made at this Reasons given above about dearth of literature also apply here All Corrections have been done to the best of our ability and highlighted in yellow
