

Editor's Comment:

After analyzing the documents sent regarding the manuscript 2023/EJMP/110623 - "Adaptogenic Botanicals With Emphasis On Rhodiola rosea And Withaniasomnifera", my considerations follow:

The work is relevant from a scientific point of view and the authors made the corrections and adjustments requested by the reviewers. However, I still consider that there is a need for some small grammar adjustments and, mainly, in relation to the use of italics in scientific nomenclature throughout the text. I am sending as an attachment the revised version of the manuscript where I have inserted blue markings to identify the points that still require correction. In another file I send my correction suggestions for the highlighted points.

I believe that upon making the proposed corrections the article should be considered suitable for publication.
