But in 2, I suggest the author add English and scientific name of the seed or plant.
Minor REVISION comments  1. Is language/English quality of the article suitable for scholarly communications?	The Language is not too bad for scholarly communication, but there are some grammatical errors, which can be corrected in shortest time.
Optional/General comments	The following were my general comments 1. The author needs to tell us about LD50 of the cadmium used in the rat before the commencement of the experiment. 2. The author also needs to show the percentage composition of the phytochemical to know which one is responsible for its effects. 3. What are the observed clinical signs during the administration of the cadmium and the extract? 4. The author also needs to explain the route of administration of the cadmium and the extract to the rat. 5. How do you restrain the rat during the experiment? 6. Your error bars should either be in small letters or other signs. 7. Generally your Tables need to be improved upon.. 8. Please revisit your histological slides.
