

Editor's Comment:

I have read the paper on malnutrition in children :as presented and my observations are:

1. The title of the article is not clear
2. The abstract and the work done and written are not clear on what the specific objective of the study was or were.
3. The study talks about epidemiological profiles but these are not clear. If these were specified in the abstract and the topic then they could be dealt with as the focus of the paper. But as it is, the paper is too general and lacks focus.
4. I cannot recommend the paper for publication because it lacks focus, the sentence structure is difficult to read due to the mistakes in grammar and expression.
