If you have suggestion of additional references, please mention in the review form.  (Apart from above mentioned 6 points, reviewers are free to provide additional suggestions/comments)	This manuscript is very important to the scientific community Yes, the title is suitable Yes, it comprehensive Yes, they are appropriate Yes, it is correct Almost good and recent. However, in the data analysis section, Equation 1, needs citation. In the Introduction Section, paragraph 4, L 2-5, was stated that heritability, genetic and phenotypic correlation of traits were analyzed for Malya, Sukuma and their crosses. However, as shown in the Results Section, these parameters were only presented for Malya goats, so please correct it accordingly. In the Introduction Section, paragraph 4, L 5-9, This information can be moved to the Method section, as it deals with data recording and generation. In that line, it is better to emphasize the objective of the study. There is also some redundancy in this section, "Tanzania between years 2008 and 2011" was stated in this and the data collection section in L3-4. In the data collection section, the first paragraph L7-10 talked about the way of village selection, the vegetation in the village and land type. Therefore, it is better to move this to the "Description of the study area" section. In the data analysis section, a citation for Equation 1 is required. In the discussion section, 1st paragraph L4, "found in this study are the similar to those reported by [10]". Please specify which goat breed this statement is referring to. In the discussion section, paragraph 4, L6, stated that "in the current study is lower than 0.73 reported by [23]". Again, for which breed? As a general comment, In the method part of this article, it may be beneficial to readers if the author could say something about Malya and Sukuma goat	Authors agreed with all the reviewers' comments . All suggested corrections were made as indicated and highlighted in yellow .
Minor REVISION comments  1. Is language/English quality of the article suitable for scholarly communications?	Yes, it is well written
