If you have suggestion of additional references, please mention in the review form.</li> </ol> (Apart from above mentioned 6 points, reviewers are free to provide additional suggestions/comments)	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>The manuscript is important as it relates to mental health of health professionals who are supposedly in-charge of the over-all well-being of people. Working conditions have always been challenging for healthcare workers, more so during events like the pandemic, as it often involves stressful and emotional situations in caring for those who are sick and being exposed to human suffering and death.</li> <li>The title of the article is suitable.</li> <li>The abstract is comprehensive.</li> <li>I suggest stating only the inclusion criteria.</li> <li>The article is commentary in nature, hence not precisely scientific. But it tells us that healthcare professionals are human beings too and need help just like everyone else.</li> <li>References should be 75% recent (5 years back).</li> </ol> Additional comment: This study reported that 8.2% of the suicide cases experienced of bullying/feeling bullied. The author further stated that certain groups may suffer bullying and discrimination more frequently than others. It made me think that the 8.2% suicide victims were not of English origin; they belonged to other nationalities. Hence, culture is a factor that could be further investigated.
Minor REVISION comments <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Is language/English quality of the article suitable for scholarly communications?</li> </ol>	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Language is suitable for scholarly communication.</li> </ol>
Optional/General comments
