

Editor's Comment:

This paper may be acceptable for publication, provided the authors are willing to revise the following flaws:

1. Please “mushroom” before farmers in the paper title.
2. Many spacing errors have been detected. A thorough check is necessary.
3. Result implications should be included in the abstract also.
4. Three (3) keywords duplicate the same as in the paper title. Other selections must be re-chosen.
5. Some punctuation errors have be noticed, such as “ Sharma et.al, 2017”. It should be “Sharma et al. (2017)” instead.
6. Many English language errors have also been detected, such as “to analyzed”, “was improved livelihood” (in conclusion section). Again, a thorough check is needed.
7. Use initials for first names of all authors in the reference listing. To avoid excessive use of “,”, may want to put first name initials before last names of all authors (except the first author).
8. In Table 3, please restrict using more than “one” decimal place.
