

Editor's Comment:

I evaluated the paper, Data is enough but writing is so weak and there are some ethical problems. For example in the section of the introduction, there is a lot of information but there are no references. Also findings are missing (findings and results are different) also using references are wrong. For example authors write "These results are in conformity with Kumar et al (2019), Pandey et al, (2017), Sabah et al. (2014) and Sheergojri et al (2013)" There are only 8 references all the text and in the one sentence there are 4 references. So my opinion is that this paper needs some revisions.
