

Editor's Comment:

After going through the revised manuscript and looked into the reviewer's comments, author feedback, and the revised manuscript 2020/MRJI/57682 titled "Microbial Assessment of Kunu Sold In Awka Metropolis", I can say that though the work done is important and suitable for Microbiology Research Journal International however needs minor revision before it is considered for publication. I have made comments/suggestions and corrections in the text of Edited manuscript which may be considered for revision. Adopt the uniform pattern of reference citing in the reference list as per the format of the journal. 7. The authors may need to consult an English speaking person for better presentation of the work

Please check the attached edited manuscript for more details.
