

Editor's Comment:

I have read through the above mentioned paper,i have also read the reviewers comments, I have also seen and read through the finally revised and resubmitted paper.

I wish therefore to comment that this is a good scholarly article, that meets the international standards for publication. This paper adds a lot to the new body of knowledge on mental health challenges associated with emerging epidemiological conditions.

I n my capacity as an editor therefore, I do recommend the paper be published in our Journal. Congratulations to the authors and to our journal for this new highly informative scholarly article.
