References are sufficient and updated. This work seems to be based on a strong field work. Some comments preferred to be taken into account: <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. Add a reference to the figure 1.2. Page 8 title 3.2.1. a possible mistake was found as follows:<ul style="list-style-type: none">••3. In table 3 the sum of percentages does not equal to 100% in some rows. Is this intentional or a calculation mistake? The concerned rows are: Huckleberry, Tomatoes, Eggplant and Bitter leaf.4. Please verify the title of the table 3 (Seasonality and vegetable production output in the rainy season) but in the table we found the two seasons (rainy and dry).	<ol style="list-style-type: none">1. Reference added to Figure 12. Title 3.2.1 rephrased3. The frequencies and percentages used in table 3 are in absolute terms. They could sum up to 1000 if they were taken in relative terms4. The dry season added to the title of table 3 as the table presents a two seasons scenario
