Compulsory REVISION comments	This paper explores the market participation decision of farmers in Odisha and explains the vital factors that influence the farmers' decision to participate in the market in Odisha. To study the relationship between the farmers' decision to participate in the market and the factors influencing these farmers' decision, a Probit regression model is used. The study uses primary data collected from 320 farmers of Ganjam, Kalahandi, Bargarh and Mayurbhanj District of Odisha. It is found that farm size, household labour, level of income and farm income are the main factors affecting the farmers' decision to participate in the market. The study examines the phenomenon of paddy farmers in Odisha from the perspectives of market participation. The results of this study have implications as to what factors need to be addressed to encourage paddy farmers of Odisha to participate in the market. We suggest that Odisha government and policymakers need to establish balanced policies for farmers and manage them in an appropriate way so that development can be fostered, contributing to food security, value addition and overall economic development. 1- The overall idea presented by the paper is well acceptable. 2- English should be improved in all the papers. 3- should be Added to other References on the list. 4- The organization of the paper is convenient in general.	Revised
