Compulsory REVISION comments	The paper contains numerous grammatical mistakes. It has to be fixed. It is preferable to utilize only one citation method. The thesis appears to have been directly changed to the present format. It is preferable to keep it brief and include more relevant information. The ECT coefficient should be less than one with a negative sign. It could, however, be less than 2. However, it is more important to explain clearly with proper citations.	Grammatical errors corrected. I do not see any thing wrong in using more than one citations. However, I have reduced it. I do not understand what the Reviewer meant by changing the thesis to the present format. He/she should have stated the type of relevant information needed to be added. The Reviewer should please understand that if a good research is too brief, it loses its relevance and people would not learn much from it. The Reviewer seems not to understand the interpretation of the ECM coefficient. It is correct and I hope what he/she meant by ECT is the same as my ECM. After 0 the next figure is -1, -1.1, -1.11, -1.12, -1.13, -1.14, -1.15, -1.16 and so on.
