Minor REVISION comments	1. Manuscript Good, very important for present time when NCDs are pandemic, Plagiarised words should be reduced from present 23% to around 15%. 2. BMI for Asians as normal is 18.5 to 22.9 and should be mentioned against less than 25 for Caucasians population, kindly correct. 3. references are too much in numbers, website references may be reduced. 4. spelling check done and corrected by reviewer, again recheck advised	Answer Thanks. It is almost impossible to remove medical and grammatical words that are identical in other scientific publications. However, no sentence, sequence or paragraph is similar or has been plagiarized. The body weight categories for Asians have been added. Unfortunately, to provide the health care readers an opportunity to access each statement for their professional perusal (and to confirm the authenticity of each statement), references to each statement have been given and these have not been removed. As a matter of fact, based on the recommendations of other reviewers, a few more have been added. Spell check has been done again.
Optional/General comments
