Authors need to explain in the methodology, the sample size calculation. How was the sample size of 60 decided?	The study recruited 60 young students in five auditoriums, i.e. from the first undergraduate to the second postgraduate, and we selected 12 students using toxic cosmetics per auditorium. In the Democratic Republic of Congo, the complete university cycle includes 5 classes (first degree, second degree, third degree, first licence and second licence).
