Compulsory REVISION comments	Result section of the manuscript is presented in style of a master or Ph.D. thesis. It may be converted as research article with precisely desired informations. References may be given as per journals format.	The result section was modified as a research article format with desired information. References were given as per the journal format
Minor REVISION comments	There are few minor revisions as indicated by red four or as in the review boxes.	The minor corrections are carried out like adding recent references for the supporting work and introduction part also modified with additional information followed by materials and methods as well But I couldn't add annova table separately for heterosis as it is clubbed with combining ability analysis table and in process of publication.
Optional/General comments	The article is good and unique. Language is also good. May be published with revisions as suggested above.	The corrected ones are highlighted in the text with yellow colour
