Compulsory REVISION comments	The paper proposed by the authors is really very interesting. highlights a field experiment conducted during the 2021 kharif season, at the crop research farm of the Department of Agronomy of Sam Higginbottom University of Agriculture, Technology and Sciences, Prayagraj, in the northeastern lowlands of eastern Uttar Pradesh, with the 'objective to study the effect of bio fertilizers and spacing on the growth, yield and economy of pearl millet. Different combinations of Azotobacter and Azospirillum biofertilizers have been proposed along with spacings that are replicated three times. The experimental results revealed that the application of Azotobacter @ 12.5 g / kg + Azospirillum @ 12.5 g / kg + 60 cm x 15 cm recorded significantly interesting data which are precisely exposed in the work. The cost and benefit analysis is also interesting. The introduction is well structured and immerses the reader in the problem under investigation. The conclusions are also well structured ensuring the reader an easy understanding of the work done by the authors. The explanatory tables are clear and precise. The bibliography is also well structured and complete. Certainly such work will be of help for future research in this economic sector.	Thank you for your appreciation Noted
