Thank you, very valuable comment! We amended the text to address your query as much as possible, though not feeling possible to elaborate it too much. Your question is very interesting as much as very extensive; therefore, we think it is worth for another article where it could be investigated much wider. Our current mini review is having a limited scope focusing mostly on a few differences between anti-PD-1/PD-L1 mABs and small molecules, therefore we felt we would not be able to elaborate your question much wider than we did. Hope the changes we implemented to address your query will be acceptable. Thank you!
Minor REVISION comments
Optional/General comments	Useful perspectives.
