Compulsory REVISION comments	<ul style="list-style-type: none">- The title should be modified to the following: Sensitivity and resistance patterns of gram-negative uropathogens isolated from the urine of patients with upper/lower urinary obstruction in Nigeria..- There are many grammatical and typographical errors that must be corrected.- The abstract is too long and should be minimized.- The names of bacteria must be in italic font.- In the methods and materials, the country must be identified. Also, the used method for culturing and antibiotic testing must be recorded.- In the results section, the subheads: Penicillin, Aminoglycosides, and Quinolones are unvalued and must be deleted.	I agree with the review suggestion and the recommendaations have all been effected. <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Title has been modified- Grammar problems have been corrected- The abstract has been trimmed- The materials and methods has been adjusted as requested- The headings have been removed in the result sections and errors corrected-
