Compulsory REVISION comments
Minor REVISION comments	This article aims to present a fairly real situation regarding deaths related to drug errors are common in Pakistan, but these are not accurately reported. It is sad that such a thing exists and we are trying to correct things, especially the motivation and education of health professionals. In the discussion section, there are some conditions that are followed in patients. The conditions described are as few as 4 or 5 at such a screening more could be monitored. However, it should have been described as a research methodology in the material and method section. The authors use both the% sign and the word percent. They must decide to use the same unit throughout the text.	Dear Reviewer, Thank you so much for the valuable comments. Dear Reviewer, we have adjusted the % sign instead the word of percent. Thanks and Best Regard
Optional/General comments
