Minor REVISION comments	Thanks a lot for your valuable study, although I have some comments, In introduction, I think you should talk more about the reason that you want use Hydrocortisone. In method part, why the authors did not illustrate their method for sampling...and why women and men were not important for sampling.... I think the sex of participants effect the results...it should be clear. Discussion part is short and I think the authors should talk a more about it.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- Introduction would be so lengthy if we add one more paragraph for reasoning. We have tried to justify our study's objectives.</li><li>- Sampling technique is now mentioned.</li><li>- We included both male and female in our study.</li></ul>
