Compulsory REVISION comments
Minor REVISION comments	In this work, the researchers investigated the antibacterial potential of Lophophora williamsii, vinca minor, and Hydrastis canadensis against dental caries associated bacteria. The manuscript is well-written, and the results are convincing. I have only minor comments: -The authors state that the methanolic extracts of almost all materials outperformed aqueous extracts in suppressing pathogenic bacteria growth but were less effective than ciprofloxacin extracts used as positive controls. Although this statement is supported by the results, it would be good to discuss why this might be the case, or, at least, providing more references would be helpful to better compare with the alternatives.	Provide more references in the main manuscript
Optional/General comments
