|-------------------------------------|--|---|
| Compulsory REVISION comments | <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. An original research article on the PROXIMATE AND PHYSICOCHEMICAL QUALITY OF JELLY PRODUCED FROM BEETROOT AND PINEAPPLE JUICE.2. Objectives; very concise and practicable.3. Introduction: ok but require logical presentation for better understanding4. Materials and methods:5. Some necessary procedures in this study are hump together, avoided or providing no detail for clarity e.g. what quantity of fruits? How was the juice extracted? What aseptic procedures were adopted? etc.6. Result presentation: Tables are statistically evaluated and legible. The results obtained are poorly presented. Consistently, the style is using very wordy, complex and incomplete sentences. For clarity, the Authors should consider the option of rewriting the manuscript especially with specific emphasises on logical presentation of results and discussion.7. Discussion. The authors did not set to addressed fundamental questions raised by this research. Provide reasons for high/ low values and, how do this bring into line with finding by similar researchers.8. Conclusion<ul style="list-style-type: none">- Conclusion: the researchers must be concise and conclude directly based on the objectives of this study. The authors are expected to avoid presentations that are complex , ambiguous, with unclear and wordy sentences- Recommendation: This should be central on addressing the AIM of this study | |
