Review Form 1.6

	Tools and models used in measuring the variables should be identified, presented in the methodology section. These tools and models should be the best-fit that can measure the variables and their relationships with precision and minimal error. Specific objectives should be states so that the discussion can flow well in line with the topic (the main goal of the study) Conclusion is very scanty. Need to be modified based on the objectives of the study No recommendation Not proper citing. Goggle and find the real or original authors, especially those the author call 'Anonymous' and acknowledge them appropriately with the period they researched these topics.
