PART 2:

FINAL EVALUATOR'S comments on revised paper (if any)	Authors' response to final evaluator's comments
No paper's revision was made. There still are mistakes in writing, bibliographic references that are not cited in order, brackets in discussion section 1 are meaningless, tables and figures are still without discussion or reference inside the text. It is advisable to reduce the number of tables as the authors will like, but they lose evidence and effectiveness, only the essential tables, appropriately described and cited in the text, should be left. Structure of the paper is to be reviewed by authors Although the efforts of the authors are commendable, the number of patients 25 (not 30, even if quantitatively does not change much) is really small enough to make the use of percentages meaningless; the work must find strength from a methodological and expository point of view and no effort has been made since the first revision.
