Compulsory REVISION comments	Classification of Gleason score such as Well, moderately or poorly in figure 3 is not appropriate ISUP grades should be given "The PCa detection rate in our study was 34%. The detection rate is lower than a similar study by Ogbetere et al. ¹⁷ in Nigeria which reported PCa in 65% of patients that had prostate biopsies." How can the authors explain this inconsistency? Two different results are mentioned in the text in terms of relation of poorly differentiated bx scores and age. First it is mentioned that there is no linear correlation but then an increased frequency of high gleason score with age is reported
Minor REVISION comments	Font of the table 1 is different from the rest and the other table. Also there are font differences in the text in discussion part.
Optional/General comments	This paper adds nothing new to the literature
