Compulsory REVISION comments	<ol style="list-style-type: none">1. The article has been written nicely except for a few grammatical errors that need to be corrected.2. There are many similar papers and hence I don't see much value addition to the extant literature except that the study nearly replicates the results of the earlier ones.3. The author/s could have studied new variables/constructs {such as the source of knowledge for self-medication (is it peers or social media) and is self-medication common among all income groups, etc.} would have made the research valuable.4. Besides the first two points, I don't see any deficiency/deficiencies in the manuscript and it can be published if the editor so wishes.
Minor REVISION comments
Optional/General comments
