PART 1: Review Comments

	Reviewer's comment	Author's comment (if agreed with reviewer, correct the manuscript and highlight that part in the manuscript. It is mandatory that authors should write his/her feedback here)
Compulsory REVISION comments	Methods and Materials: Authors do not explain or describe how the patient's history were taken, especially the chronic diseases such as hypotension, diabetes and chronic kidney disease that constitute risk factors for the outcomes under investigations. Furthermore, it is necessary to briefly discuss how the study outcome was assessed and recorded. There are no discussions on how patients were selected for the study. Introduction: There is the need to briefly discuss how the pre-defined risk factors (Hypertension, diabetes) are likely to provoke conduction defects such as the CHB. Authors should also consider the possibility of removing the comparisons of their findings with the findings from similarly conducted studies from this section to the discussion section. Discussion: Authors should consider focusing more on discussing their study findings rather than discussing the different etiologies and complications of MI that are not related to the study outcome (CHB). The pathophysiology and etiologies of MI could be moved to the introduction if warranted
Minor REVISION comments	Manuscript requires proof-reading and editing by experts of the English Language
Optional/General comments
